

Support for all at Palouse Pride 2

Geoff Cr

Community members walk in the Palouse Pride March in downtown Moscow on Saturday.

Politics shares the limelight at this year's parade and festival

By Terri Harber
Daily News staff writer

Nearly 150 people paraded from downtown to East City Park in Moscow on Saturday to demonstrate support for the Palouse-area LGBTI community.

Katja Drake-Weiss, an archeology student at The Evergreen State College in Olympia, is a Moscow High School graduate who returns to visit friends.

She participated in the Palouse Pride Parade and joined festivities at the park. She carried a sign that read "Love is not

See PRIDE, Page 4A

